

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Prof. Gerhard Hindricks, MD
Born: 19.05.1960 in Rheine/Westfalen, Germany

Medical Education: 1982 – 1989 medical education at the Westfälische Wilhelms University Münster, Germany
1989 final examination
1989 – 1998 research fellow and medical assistant at the Department of Cardiology and Angiology of the Westfälische Wilhelms-University Münster, Germany under the guidance of Prof. Dr. Günter Breithardt
1997 examination specialist in Internal Medicine
1999 examination specialist in Cardiology
1998 Co-Director of the Department of Electrophysiology at the University Leipzig, Heart Centre
2005 Professor of Medicine at the University Leipzig
2007 Director of the Department of Electrophysiology at the University Leipzig, Heart Centre

Areas of Interest: Cardiac electrophysiology, catheter ablation, cardiac pacing, atrial fibrillation, ventricular tachycardia, sudden cardiac death

Publications: More than 350 publications in German and international journals, monography and textbooks.

Membership: German Cardiac Society
European Society of Cardiology (ESC)
European Heart Rhythm Association
Heart Rhythm Society

Society duties: Association 2009-2011 Program Chair European Heart Rhythm
2011-2013 Chairman International Affairs
2013-2015 President-Elect European Heart Rhythm Association
2015-2015 President European Heart Rhythm Association
2012-2016 Program Committee Heart Rhythm Society

Scientific journals: Deputy Editor European Heart Journal
Senior Guest Editor Circulation Arrhythmias & Electrophysiology

Reviewer: Journal of Cardiovascular Electrophysiology, Lancet
Circulation, American Journal of Cardiology, Pace
Journal of the American College of Cardiology, European Heart Journal, Europace, Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift, Zeitschrift für Kardiologie